Dutch Warships in the Age of Sail 1600-1714 James Bander,2014-12-01 For most of the seventeenth century the Netherlands constituted the most important maritime power in the world with by far the largest merchant fleet and a dominance in seaborne trade that other countries feared and envied Born out of an 80 year struggle against Spain for independence the Dutch republic relied on naval power to guarantee its freedom promote its trade and defend its overseas colonies The Dutch navy was crucial to its survival and success yet the ships that made up its fleets are among the least studied of any in the age of sail The reasons for this include a decentralised administration of five separate admiralties often producing ships of the same name at the same time the widespread co opting of merchantmen into naval fleets and competing systems of measuring ships all of which leads to confusion and error The most significant contribution of this book is to produce the first definitive listing of all Dutch fighting ships whether purpose built purchased hired or captured from the heyday of the United Provinces complete with technical details and summaries of their careers It also provides an appreciation of the administrative economic and technical background and outlines the many campaigns fought by one of the most successful navies in history With its unique depth of information this is a work of the utmost importance to every naval historian and general reader interested in the navies of the sailing era A Catalogue of the Manuscripts of Christiaan

Sensuous in the Counter-Reformation Church Marcia B. Hall, Tracy E. Cooper, 2013-07-22 This book examines the promotion of the sensuous as part of religious experience in the Roman Catholic Church of the early modern period. During the Counter-Reformation, every aspect of religious and devotional practice was reviewed, including the role of art and architecture and the invocation of the five senses to incite devotion. This became a hotly contested topic. The Protestants condemned the material cult of veneration of relics and images, rejecting the importance of emotion and the senses and instead promoting the power of reason in receiving the Word of God. After much debate, the Church concluded that the senses are necessary to appreciate the sublime and that they derive from the Holy Spirit. As part of its attempt to win back the faithful, the Church embraced the sensuous and promoted the use of images, relics, liturgy, processions, music, and theater as important parts of religious experience.
