Kamikazes, Corsairs, and Picket Ships Robin L. Rielly,2008-09-05 The untold story of ferocious air and naval combat during the WWII Battle of Okinawa drawn from primary sources and survivor interviews This is the story of an overlooked yet significant aerial and naval battle during the American assault on Okinawa in the spring of 1945 While losses to America s main fleet are well recorded less well known is the terrific battle waged on the radar picket line the fleet s outer defense against Japanese marauders Weaving together the experiences of the ships and their crews drawn from ship and aircraft action reports ship logs and personal interviews historian Robin L Rielly recounts one of the most ferocious air and naval battles in history The US fleet and its accompanying airpower was so massive that the Japanese could only rely on suicide attacks to inflict critical damage Of the 206 ships that served on radar picket duty twenty nine percent were sunk or damaged by Japanese air attacks making theirs the most hazardous naval surface duty in World War II The great losses were largely due to relentless kamikaze attacks but also resulted from the improper use of support gunboats failure to establish land based radar at the earliest possible time the assignment of ships ill equipped for picket duty and as time went on crew fatigue US air cover during the battle is also described in full as squadrons dashed from their carriers and land bases to intercept the Japanese swarms resulting in constant melees over the fleet The Animal Kingdom Arranged in the 3rd Century BC to the 3rd Century AD John Lund,2015-10-26 This is the first monograph devoted solely to the ceramics of Cyprus in the Hellenistic and Roman Periods The island was by then no longer divided into kingdoms but unified politically first under Ptolemaic Egypt and later as a province in the Roman Empire Submission to foreign rule was previously thought to have diluted if not obliterated the time honoured distinctive Cypriot character The ceramic evidence suggests otherwise The distribution of local and imported pottery in Cyprus points to the existence of several regional exchange networks a division that also seems reflected by other evidence The similarities in material culture exchange patterns and preferential practices are suggestive of a certain level of regional collective self awareness From the 1st century BC onwards Cyprus became increasingly engulfed by mass produced and standardized ceramic fine wares which seem ultimately to have put many of the indigenous makers of similar products out of business or forced them to modify their output Also the ceramic record gradually became less diverse during the Roman Period than before developments which we today might be inclined to view as symptoms of an early form of globalisation Bulletin of the United States Bureau of Labor Statistics ,1982
